David McQueen

David McQueen, 56, has been in the tree service industry for 36 years. He runs his own free service business as well as other construction services. McQueen said it's been tough lately. "I have to dig deep to find blessings, but God always provides," he said. He said the current lull in business is, in part, because people have different priorities. "People are focusing on their homes now and not their yard."

McQueen did very well after Hurricane Katrina, he said, but then the cleanup became a government job and he couldn't compete. He has lived in Gautier for 25 years and has two children.
